Research Activity

My research is focused on the study of variational models that arise in different situations. In particular, I am interested in problems with a variational nature from Physics, Materials Science, Imaging Science and Big Data. My program addressed both local and nonlocal models. The general goal is to use rigorous mathematical tools to explain how the basic features of a model relate to the experimental observations, thus understanding the phenomenon under investigation and, eventually, validate (or not) the model.

2013 - 2015 Vice-President of SISSA Club

SISSA Club is a student association that organizes extra-curricula activities with the purpose to offer a wide variety of occasions for SISSA students for meeting together in a non academic environment. Our directive board was able to strengthen the association, making it a fundamental part of SISSA social life. As vice-president I looked after the organization of the activities proposed for 2014-2015, collaborating with SISSA Director, SISSA administration and SISSA Medialab
